Job purpose

The new Children and young people wellbeing service is underpinned by the Thrive Framework.

The children and young people wellbeing service will offer timely and flexible support for children, young people and their families with professionals thinking holistically about the needs of the child or young person rather than focusing on a diagnosis. Our aim is to build resilience in Children, young people, their families/carers, and professionals and to be informed about support available, the choices they have, empowering them to understand what they can do to help themselves, and how to support future mental health needs.

The post holder will have an active caseload of children and young people within the 'Getting Help' sphere of support and will use evidence-based therapeutic models. Low intensity, early interventions will be delivered in a range of settings and will include parental and family support

Key responsibilities

- Hold a caseload of clients, delivering outcome-based interventions to support their wellbeing
- Develop psychological formulations for individual patients that contribute towards the overall assessment of their care needs
- Collaboratively establish individual patient's goals towards recovery
- Plan, deliver and review individual and group therapeutic interventions for specific patients
- Determine suitability of specific interventions, including group and individual modalities, based on the patient's assessment/formulation
- To undertake initial school and community-based assessments and to deliver a range of early interventions to children and young people with a range of emotional and psychological difficulties where appropriate
- To routinely measure clinical outcomes and deliver evidence-based clinical interventions
- Promoting the mental and emotional health of children, young people and families in the community through clinical interventions in the care pathway/crisis team/SPA
- Collaboratively establish individual patient's goals towards recovery

- To prevent more serious mental health problems in children and young people by early identification of the development of mental health problems in children and young people
- Providing a direct service to children and young people and their families, in an accessible and less stigmatising environment, based on the best available research evidence, within clinical governance
- Oversee the development of Wellbeing Coaches and other practitioners within the service
- Adhere to the service referral protocols. Provide close case management and supervision, supporting with the escalation of cases where the level of need becomes beyond scope, or more severe ensuring adherence to other relevant elements of service delivery
- Keep coherent records of all activity in line with service protocols and use these records and outcome data to inform decision-making
- Work in collaboration with children, young people and communities to enhance and widen access to support health promotion
- To liaise with other education, health, social care and voluntary sector staff from a range of agencies, in the care provided to clients
- To assist, in the integration and development of user participation, outcomes measures, and evidence based treatment approaches in line with the wider service strategy for service improvement
- To provide education, advice and support to staff, patients/carers families
- To participate in networking with all other relevant agencies to enable a seamless pathway of care
- Support the development of emotional wellbeing knowledge and skills in the wider public health workforce
- Working alongside the Practice Education Team ensuring clinical and non-clinical colleagues are supported in addressing the Emotional Wellbeing priorities in their communities via the application of intelligence, evidence and expert advice
- Identify gaps within and potential developments of the wellbeing programme, reporting these to management

Our values

Our values are our moral compass and core to our DNA. They underpin the way we deliver our services and treat those who use our services.

To many organisations values are just words which don't translate into reality of the day to day but our values flow through everything that we do, they define who we are, what we stand for and set the expectations of our colleagues, communities, customers and partners. They have been defined by our colleagues and have been integral to our journey so far and will be integral to our future as well.

We have three values which help us stand out from the crowd, not just because there's only three, but because they are unique to who we are. We care, we think, and we do.
